| 2:10pm- 2:40pm | Keynote Presentation: Al Explainability in Finance: Building Responsible, Transparent, and Trusted Systems In a field dominated by models and metrics, this session reframes Al explainability by focusing first on the people who rely on these systems. Drawing on real examples from banking and financial services, it introduces a practical, human-centered framework that helps Al leaders and business stakeholders jointly identify where improved prediction or agentic systems can truly transform the organization. Participants will learn how to map critical decisions and processes, score Al use cases by business value and explainability requirements, and design explanations that different audiences can readily understand and act on. Attendees will leave with concrete tools to run more effective Al-use-case workshops, avoid unfocused 'science projects,' and build Al systems that are not only high-performing but responsible, transparent, |
